ArtsVote – Make Your Vote Count

2024 marks an important presidential election year, which also means all 435 U.S. House of Representatives, 6 Delegates, and one-third of the U.S. Senate are running for election on Tuesday, November 5, 2024. What's at stake: will there will be a change in party control of the House, Senate, and White House?

We encourage you to be an ArtsVote champion by pledging to make your vote count and encouraging others to turn out to vote. Download your customized State Voter Factsheet with key deadline dates, times, and locations to update your voter registration, find out if you can vote absentee or by-mail, or vote early in-person at ArtsActionFund.org/ArtsVote.

About the 2024 Congressional Arts Report Card

The Arts Action Fund PAC's 2024 Congressional Arts Report Card is an analysis and scorecard of how current incumbent Congressional candidates took pro-arts actions over the last two years. This document serves as your one-stop review of pro-arts actions taken or not taken by incumbents before you cast your vote at the ballot box. We evaluated 12 legislative arts indicators in the House and 10 arts indicators in the Senate. These arts indicators range from floor votes to prevent deep cuts to the arts and humanities to co-sponsoring important arts policy legislation and signing on to "Dear Colleague" letters with their peers in the House and the Senate to show group support for the arts. Those Members of Congress who showed exemplary leadership in being an arts champion earned extra credit. A total of 313 pro-arts House members and 54 Senators received a Thumbs Up 👍 on our 2024 Congressional Arts Report Card. A full 100% of Democrats and 44% of Republicans received a Thumbs Up to reflect the measurable increase in bipartisan support for the arts in Congress. Additionally, 32 super arts champions in the House and 2 in the Senate received a Double Thumbs Up 👍👍 for exceeding scores above 100% with extra credit Congressional arts leadership.

About the Presidential and Vice-Presidential Candidates' Past Congressional Arts Records

Since the Arts Action Fund has been producing the Congressional Arts Report Card for more than two decades, we're able to look back at the arts records for all four of the candidates. When Kamala Harris was in the Senate (2017-2020), she received a Thumbs Up for her entire tenure and as Vice President, the Biden/Harris Administration (2021-2024) requested increases in funding for the arts and humanities for the last four consecutive years. When Donald Trump was in the White House (2017-2021), he proposed eliminating all funding for the National Endowment for the Arts and for the Humanities four years in a row. When Tim Walz was a member of Congress in the House (2007-2019), he consistently received a pro-arts Thumbs Up. During J.D. Vance's short tenure as U.S. Senator (2023 - present), he did not take any pro-arts actions and, as a result, did not receive a Thumbs Up in this 2024 Congressional Arts Report Card.

Pro-arts leadership: ● Yes

* Please note that Party Leadership and Appropriations Committee members typically do not sign "Dear Colleague" letters or join caucuses, but many still exercise arts leadership in a variety of other ways.

 Dear Colleague Signatory Letters on arts-related legislation carried the highest scoring weight to help achieve a thumbs up 👍 arts grade. If a Senator earned a perfect score or higher with Extra Credit points, they then received a double thumbs up 👍👍

A filled-in dot ● on the Congressional Arts Report Card signifies a pro-arts action was taken.

- 1. Arts strengthen the economy. The nation's Arts and Culture sector—nonprofit, commercial, education—is a $1.1 trillion industry that supports 5.2 million jobs (2022). That is 4.3% of the nation's economy—a larger share of GDP than powerhouse sectors such as Transportation, Construction, Education, and Agriculture. Similar results are found at the state level. The nonprofit arts and culture industry alone generated $151.7 billion in economic activity in 2022—spending by arts organizations and their audiences—which supported 2.6 million jobs and generated $29.1 billion in government revenue.
- 2. Arts drive revenue to local businesses. Arts attendees spend an average of $38.46 per person, per event, beyond the cost of admission on items such as meals, parking, and lodging—vital income for local businesses. 30% of attendees come from outside the county in which the arts event took place; those nonlocal attendees average $60.57 in spending beyond admission, and 77% said they traveled to the community specifically to attend that arts and culture event.
- 3. Arts unify communities. 72% of Americans believe “The arts provide shared experiences with people of different races, ethnicities, ages, beliefs, and identities.” 63% agree that the arts “help me understand other cultures in my community better”—perspectives observed across all demographic and economic categories.
- 4. Arts strengthen mental health and wellbeing. Just 45 minutes of art making can lower the stress hormone cortisol by 25%. More than half of Americans (60%) say the arts have “helped them cope during times of mental or emotional distress,” and 69% believe the arts “lift me up beyond everyday experiences.”
- 5. Arts and culture are tourism drivers. Arts travelers are ideal tourists, staying longer and spending more to seek out authentic culture experiences. 70% of Americans agree, “The arts improve the image and identity of my community,” and 53% say, “When planning a vacation, I consider the destination's arts and culture experiences when deciding where to visit.”
- 6. Arts improve academic performance. Students engaged in arts learning have higher GPAs, standardized test scores, and college-going rates as well as lower drop-out rates. These academic benefits are reaped by students across all socio-economic strata. Yet, the Department of Education reports that access to arts education for students of color is significantly lower than for their white peers. 91% of Americans believe that arts are part of a well-rounded K-12 education.
- 7. Arts spark creativity and innovation. Creativity is among the top five applied skills sought by business leaders—per the Conference Board's Ready to Innovate report—with 72% saying creativity is of “high importance” when hiring. Research on creativity shows that Nobel laureates in the sciences are 17 times more likely to be actively engaged as an arts maker than other scientists.
- 8. Arts have social impact. University of Pennsylvania researchers have demonstrated that a high concentration of the arts in a city leads to greater civic engagement, more social cohesion, higher child welfare, and lower poverty rates.
- 9. Arts improve healthcare. Nearly one-half of the nation's healthcare institutions provide arts programming for patients, families, and even staff. 78% deliver these programs because of their healing benefits to patients—shorter hospital stays, better pain management, and less medication. 75% of Americans say if their doctor wrote them a prescription to participate in the arts as a way to improve their physical or mental health, they would likely follow that recommendation.
- 10. Arts for the health and well-being of our military. The arts can heal the mental, physical, and moral injuries of war for military servicemembers and Veterans—who rank the creative arts therapies in the top four (out of 40) interventions and treatments.

Americans for the Arts ACTION FUND PAC

The 2024 Congressional Arts Report Card is a political publication of the Americans for the Arts Action Fund PAC (Arts Action Fund PAC) and is not authorized by any candidate or committee. An electronic copy can be found at www.ArtsActionFund.org/ReportCard.

Arts Action Fund PAC is the only national bipartisan political action committee dedicated to financially supporting pro-arts federal candidates in federal elections. The Americans for the Arts Action Fund PAC's direct contributions to pro-arts federal candidates is one of the most effective ways to help advance arts on a national level. Members of Congress know the types of PACs that are connected to large membership organizations, like ours, represent an activist voting constituency as well.

Only members of the Arts Action Fund can contribute to its Arts Action Fund PAC. By contributing, you will send a message to candidates that arts advocates will support elected leaders who will stand up for artists, equitable public policies to provide individuals and families affordable access to all forms of the arts and every child's right to a comprehensive, high quality arts education. Your contribution will also help us more effectively rally national support against attacks to the arts, as well as build the necessary influence to ensure bipartisan support for the arts. You can contribute to the Arts Action Fund PAC online at ArtsActionFund.org/formassembly/fa_form/120.

For questions about this report, please contact Arts Action Fund and PAC Executive Director Nina Ozlu Tunceli at ntunceli@artsusa.org or Arts Action Fund Manager Morgan Furnari at mfurnari@artsusa.org. Special thanks to Daniel Reiter and Ashley Baek for their invaluable research work on this project.
